people; for the committee very properly has taken care that the time shall be ample. Let the people take care that they make good use of the time. The request of the committee on this head is pertinent and wise. We trust that it will be universally complied with. In this relation the Frankfort Yeoman makes a suggestion which we deem worthy of adoption. "Inas convenient for the people to assemble in winter as in summer, care should be taken to select the most suitable day, and, to this end, we suggest that county court day in January, in each county, be selectfalls on the first Monday, when that in THE SHORTEST AND MOST RELIABLE February should be chosen." This sugwith the habits of the people as well as with the practices of parties. We do not doubt that it will be adopted by the several

The TRUE TEST FOR THE SOUTH.—The Democratic papers loudly accuse Colonel Stokes, of Tennessee, of perjury in taking the test oath in order to obtain his seat in the House. In terms the charge is true, for nobody denies that Stokes was a violent rebel, and materially aided the rebellion at the beginning of the war. He nobly atoned for his error by afterwards fighting on the side of the Union, and it was because of his present loyality that

OUR FRANKFORT LETTER.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 12, 1867.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: SIGNS AND OMENS of the coming great political contest are multiplied unto us day by day. The Democratic State Central Committee have now issued a circular to the Democratic party of Kentucky enjoining upon them the duty of appointing "delegates from every county in the State, to meet in convention in the city of Frankfort on Saturday, the 22d day of February, 1868, for the purpose among other things of nominating a suitable candidate for the office of Governor. Besides the selection of this candidate, it will be the duty of the duty of the Committee have to the Democracy of the United States, to select suitable candidates for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States, as, also, electors for the offices of President and Vice President of the United States, as, also, electors for this State." Thus the work apportioned this State." Thus the work apportioned them is by no means trivial, but, on the contrary, is to engage their most serious attention, and calls for the exercise of superior judgment and discrimination.

IN THE SENATE this morning nothing unusual occurred.

The reading of the long and uninteresting thills to incorporate some turnpile comparation. The serior products of the Union a government as revolting to justice and humanity as it is fatal to the serior products of the African race, and haters of their own, insist on a policy which they know is death to the nation's lite. Yielding to passion, rather than reason, they and murder its liberty. These madien and demagogues, for the sake of political supremacy, would fasten upon the States of the Union a government as revolting to justice and humanity as it is fatal to bills to incorporate some turnpike companies in some out-of-the-way corners of the State proved perfect God-sends and seasons of enjoyment to Senators generally, for they thus had an opportunity of reading the morning papers or paying visits to It is amusing to observe the fear and quaking, if not the manifest terror, of politicians and financial writers, when the subject of enlarging the volume of currency is mentioned. They shudder, and cry out "inflation!" as if they had seen a ghost. Congress seems more than half disposed now to do something to relieve the public distress, if it can only be done without "inflation." Taxation is horribly repulsive and oppressive, but they seem to think anything preferable to "inflation." Horror of horrors is "inflation." Now let us look this hobgoblin square in the face. A few words will explain how

THE OPENING BALL of the Assembly Club came off at the Capital Hotel last night, as per appointment, and we are happy to record that, in spite of the inclement weather and what is the face. A few words will explain how this phantasmagora is frightening people out of their wits.

In the days of local banks, before the war, it would happen, every few years, that the banks would get out more paper than they could carry, people would get alarmed, a run would be made on the banks for coin, and down the banks would come with a crash, and with them general bankruptcy and ruin. Each time care ing June. The time of the next convention as well as of the call is earlier. The relative time of the call, however, is much earlier than that of the convention. The period between the time of the call and that of the convention in the present case is nearly two months longer than the corresponding period in 1864. The radicals now have upwards of five months in which to select delegates. The Democrats in 1864 had originally about the same period, to which finally a month and a half were added. And the Democrats will not be likely to have less next year.

The call of the last national convention of the Pourth of the ensuing July, though subsequently postponed until the 29th of August. issue, in currency, with interest in currency, at five per cent.

The government furnishing this currency, thereby saving an equivalent amount of interest, can well afford to allow interest on it while withdrawn from circulation.

The plan of special deposits of currency, and the issue of interest-bearing certificates, I regard of the greatest importance for many reasons, some of which I will state here.

It is well known that when business is dull money accumulates in large amounts in the commercial centers, and those in whose hands it is desire to make something from it. Legitimate business does not require its use. It is offered "on call" at a low rate of interest, and is loaned and is used for speculative purposes. Sooner or later the wants of legitimate business require the money at the legal rate of interest in the locality. The banks and dealers in money attempt to respond to the wants of legitimate business, and to the wants of legitimate business, and call in their "call loans," and a panic en-sues and without their being a dollar more think it far better to settle that question, as well as the manner of payment, in advance. Let the equivalent for taxation be the low rate of interest. If the bonds are liable to taxation but few will ever be reached for that purpose. It is desirable to have the bonds taken at the lowest possible rate of interest, and to accomplish this result the bonds must meet the wishes of those who have capital to invest. The investor in bonds desires a permanent investment, a certain and fixed return, not liable to diminuition from tax ation or any other cause. Therefore let the act authorizing the issue declare the bonds forever free from all taxation, the principal and interest payable in gold, and pledge the revenues from customs for the payment of principal and interest. Having the character of permanence and a certain and unalterable annual return in gold, these bonds will be a favorite investment for trust funds, Savings Banks, Insurance Companies, and all Capitalists that desire a safe and permanent investment.

The next question to be considered: Is the plan proposed, repudiation? I sate plan proposed, repudiation? I nsist that it is not. Is it carrying out n good faith, according to their letter and spirit, the acts of Congress authoring the various loans? I insist that it In short, wherever the Government has is.

In short, wherever the Government has stipulated to pay gold, let gold be paid, but let the Government be just, but let it be just to all. Let it not mete out one measure of justice to the bondholders, and another to its tax-payers. Let it not unless "nominated in the bond," pay to the bondholders gold while it pays paper money to the maimed soldier, and the widow and orphan of those who died on the battle-field to save the life of the nation. The pensions paid to the wounded soldiers and the widows and orphans are a debt of the United States. Who ever heard Jay Cooke, or any of the bondholders, or their widows and orphans? Their sysmpathies are for the bondholder, and they express a holy hortor of repudiation when it is proposed to pay the bondholder precisely according to the terms authorizing the loan.

Since the passage of the legal tender and existing at the time of its passage, and all made since, are held to be paya-

NATIONAL DEBT. CURRENCY AND TAXATION.

St. Albans, Vt., Dec. 2, 1867,
How. Benj. F. Butler:

Sir. Allow me to express to you my thanks for your very able speech upon the debt and currency question, and permit me to make a few suggestions for your time to make a few suggestions for your at loan of fifteen hundred million dollars; principal and interest payable is gold, if free from all taxation, with interest payable semiannually at four per cent per anum.

Authorize the withdrawal (upon just and equitable terms) of the National Bank circulation and the substitution of "legal tenders."

Authorize the issuing of legal tenders, in the whole, to the amount of one thousand million dollars.

Authorize the issuing of legal tenders, in the whole, to the amount of one thousand million dollars.

Authorize any reeditor of the government to exchange his evidence of indebtendness for the four per cent fifty year coin loan.

Provide by law that, whenever there has accumulated in the Treasury one milion dollars in coin over or above the matured coin liabilities of the governmenting cluding the half yearly interest on the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one milion dollars in coin over or above the matured coin liabilities of the governmenting cluding the half yearly interest on the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars in coin over or above the matured coin liabilities of the governmenting cluding the half yearly interest on the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars of the four per cent of the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars of the four per cent on the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars of the four per cent on the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars of the four per cent on the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars of the four per cent to the coin debt, that the Secretary of the Treasury one million dollars of the four per cent to the coi and taxation questions, will be little better than an aggravation of existing evils.

It may be thought by the bondholders to be a sufficient "tub thrown to the whale" to satisfy the people, while they sail smoothly along and secure the passage of a resolution declaring their bonds payable in gold, or the passage of measures that they vainly hope will secure an early resumption of specie payments.

Adopt the measures recommended in this letter, and as naturally and as surely as the laws of nature, and without any shock, gold and greenbacks will become equally valuable and convertible, one to the other, without cost; the Government providing at the commercial centers gold the other, without cost; the Government providing at the commercial centers gold for their redemption, when like our gold certificates they will command for certain purposes at times a small premium. In a comparative short time the one thousand millions of greenbacks will be found not to exceed the actual requirements of the business of this immense country.

not to exceed the actual requirements of the business of this immense country; for as gold and greenbacks become of equal value they will become the circulation of the Pacific States and Territories, where they do not now circulate at all.

Let Congress consider these measures in an enlightened, just, and liberal spirit, and settle all of them together by some comprehensive system of harmonious laws, and our country will start on a new career of prosperity. JUSTICE.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Daily Times of this morning is clad in mourning for the death of personal rights and the liberty of the press! Both were strangled yesterday by a "Special Field Order" from Brevet Major General Ord, commanding my arrest, for the purpose of "preserving the public peace!" I executed a brilliant "flank movement," avoided the Sergeant and three men, who were sent to my office to arrest me, took a carriage, and proceeded to the headquarters of Gen. Gillem, and reported myself at his service. I was there informed that I would be required to keep the peace in regard to everybody for twelve

MAN KILLED IN SCOTT.—We learn from me residents of the neighborhood, that murderous affair occurred at Newtown, sort county, on Thursday last between oo men by the name of McCune and two men by the name of McCune and Bony McAdams, which resulted in the death of the latter. The particulars, as we learn them, are briefly these: The two men were in the village, and were drinking freely. McAdams, it seems, was engaged to a daughter of McCune's, who was bitterly copposed to the match. A quarral bitterly opposed to the match. A quarrel ensued about the matter, and McAdams struck McCune over the head and neck with a heavy pair of fire-tongs, and McC breast, in the region of his heart, and ranging downward, inflicted a wound that quickly resulted in his death. McCune was arrested, and taken before the county Judge, who, upon a careful hearing of the nce, promptly released him.—Fran was captured and which was abandoned property. The question had arisen whether er the President or Secretary had authority to submit questions to the Commissioner and particularly what had been called the Savennah Cotton cases, and the Attorney and particularly what had been called the Savannah Cotton cases, and the Attorney General had decided adversely to the Secretary of the Treasury. He believed he had given up no cotton in any manner conflicting with that opinion. He read a letter from the Attorney General, dated April 24th, expressing the opinion that certain property was unjustifiably seized, not having been the property of the Confederate States. This letter exonerated the Secretary of the Treasury from all personal blame.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, the Senate cook up the bill in regard to the proceeds of captured and abandoned property. The question was stated to be on Mr.

Mr. Fessenden said this matter was personal blame.

Mr. Fessenden said this matter was doubtless caused by such a misapprehension and aggravated by dissatisfied claimants of such property. Few had any conception of the trouble and difficulty enteresting the state of the such property. tailed on the Treasury Department by the large amounts of property scattered all over the country which had been seized. The law did not mean that the gross receipts of the captured property should be paid into the Treasury. Secretary Chase had established the principle of paying the expenses of the captured property out of the property. Would it be proper that when certain property was unjustifiably seized it should be sold and the proceeds put into the Treasury? Mr. Chase had decided that it would be first subject to proof. The sixth section made it the duty of the army and navy seizing abandoned property to turn it over to the Governiled on the Treasury Department by th of the army and navy seeing abstances property to turn it over to the Govern-ment. They had been in the habit of seizing property that had never been abandoned, and that the Secretary of the Treasury had properly allowed proof of the ownership.

Treasury had properly allowed proof of the ownership.

In the act of ——, 1864, it was directed that the proceeds, after deducting expenses, were to be passed into the Treasury, under which law he had assumed control of that department. He had doubtless erred in indorsing the opinion referred to of the Solicitor of the Treasury, witkout sufficiently considering the difference between captured and abandoned property. But an investigation would show that under his administration, and probably under that of the other Secretary, in cases of property subject to seizure, they had f property subject to seizure, they have exercised the most scrupulous care. Such great care, indeed, that a part of the office great care, indeed, that a part of the office was set aside for such investigation, with a competent gentleman detailed to pronounce on the legal aspect of such cases. In addition to that, he, himself, had always examined the cases after decisions were rendered by this bureau, and had sometimes set them aside. Mr. McCulloch had simply followed the course marked out by himself and predecessor, and he was called mseit and predecessor, and he was called n to share the blame, if there was any. This bill should pass without amend-ent. Though the Treasury had no obment. Though the Treasury had no objection, it would operate unjustly to parties having just claims against property owners, depriving them of their remedy. Sherman said when he claimed, yesterday, that the Secretary of the Treasury had conformed his action to the opinion of the Solicitor, the Senator from Illinois, Mr. Trumbull, had taken him by surprise in denving the fact. He read a statement He read a statem from the Secretary's report showing that act as he had stated. He explained that the conference had deferred action on the to remain at interest without being carried into the Treasury. If the Senator from Maine thought more time should be allowed, he had no objection.

Mr. Fessenden said that the only reason for the delay was that it was only the net proceeds that were to be paid into the Treasury, and that there were certain claims to be tested.

The morning hour having expired, Mr. Johnson rose to speak on Mr. Drake's resolution relative to the President's Mes-olution relative to the President's Message.

Mr. Trumbull desiring to speak on the pending bill, on motion of Mr. Sherman, it was postponed till to-morrow.

Mr. Drake rose to a personal explanation in regard to an attack upon him by the National Intelligencer and New York World, based upon correspondence in the Cincinnati Commercial under the nom de plume of 'Mack.' The charge was that he (Drake) had voted in the Legislature of Missouri, in 1858-59, that negroes in his State should be put up by sheriffs at public auction. It would be unjust to himself and his State did he not pronounce it totally false. In August, 1859, he was elected to that Assembly, and took his seat, not having been a member the previous winter, when the House In the Committee of the Whole a resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to relinquish to builders such iron-clads as are not required by the Government on their refunding the amount paid them, with an abatement of injuries received, was, on motion of Mr. Judd, referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.
Mr. Washburne, of Indiana, offered a resolution instructing the Committee to inquire into the expediency of extending the additional bounty act to widows of soldiers who died since its passage.
On motion of Mr. Julian the Secretary of War was directed to report the inforseat, not having been a member the previous winter, when the House passed such a bill. After he took his seat a substitute was offered to the same effect, and an amendment offered providing that negroes or mulatoes settling in the State since 1847 should be reduced to slavery. He had voted for it. The operation of it would have been confined to a small number if the bill should become a law. Without it every negro in the State was to be ensiaved. But he had voted against the bill on its final passage. The statement was, therefore, false and unfounded.

The Senate took up Mr. Drake's resolution.

Mr. Johnson spoke at length in defense of the President's Message. It was one of the best, he said, sent in by any President.

On motion of Mr. Grimes the resolution was postponed till Monday, and the Senate took up the concurrent resolution to adjourn from the 20th of December to the 6th of Language.

The President sent to the Senate a mess-The President sent to the Senate a message giving his reasons for suspending Hon. E. M. Stanton as Secretary of War on the 12th of August last. A copy of the message cannot now be procured for publication, nor was the document read in open Senate, but the following, it is believed, are the essential points of the document. It will be recollected that the President for considerations of a high ument. It will be recollected that the President, for considerations of a high character, requested Secretary Stanton to resign his office, and that Stanton, in reply, quoting the phrase of the President, said that "considerations of a high character" alone had induced him to continue at the head of the department and constrained him to not resign the office of Secretary of War before the next meeting of Congress.

The President says that it was not only

Orleans to the Secretary of War that a convention was about to assemble in that city, and apprehending trouble, asked the Secretary for instructions to be telegraphed him at once. Mr. Stanton did not, however, give an answer to the General, nor did he communicate the fact of the dispatch to the President, who knew nothing of its existence until ten days after it came into Mr. Stanton's honds, and not until the riot had occurred. ot until the riot had occurred.

The President therafore takes the rounds that Mr. Stanton is responsile for the delinquency. So far as the ublic interests are concerned there is no use to regret the removal of Mr. Stan , for the present Secretary ad interum s, by his measures ef economy, saved llions of dollars to the Government.

SUMMARY OF NEW YORK NEWS. Experiments in Breech-Loading Arms.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. New York, Dec. 12.

The board of officers appointed to experiment and report on breech-loading arms for the use of the State, held an adjourned session at the State arsenal on Seventh avenue. The day was devoted to testing the penetrative force of cartridges with reference to the point of explosion. The Conway and Berdan cartridges were the only ones represented. The decision of the board on the relative merits of each will be given in a future report.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:
In accordance with a resolution of the Board of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, I herewith transmit two reports and three supplemental reports of Col. John Mason Brown, with accompanying youchers, as special auditor, to audit and settle the accounts of the Board of Internal Improvement, and the presidents and superintendents of the same from 1863.
Col. Brown was appointed special auditor by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund on the 6th of June, 1867, and made his reports on the 30th of Angust, 1867, in pursuance of "An act, entitled an act to appropriate money to pay the debts created for repairs on the Green, Barren, and Kentucky rivers," approved 9th of March, 1867. nance enough to support life. A SWINDLING WOMAN.

BOTEL - KEEPERS AND THEIR GUESTS DE FRAUDED.

About the middle of last week a young About the middle of last week a young woman of good address, and apparently a lady of culture, arrived at Taylor's hotel, in Jersey city, where she entered her name on the register as Mrs. Sutherland, representing that she was the wife of Senator Sutherland, and said she wished to remain there two or three days, until her baggage came on from Canada, where she had been on a visit. While there the stranger made the acquaintance of a lady from Washington, she also claiming to be a resident of Washington, and claiming the acquaintance of many distinguished people there, of whom she conversed in familiar terms. On Saturday last the strange woman entered the room of the familiar terms. On Saturday last the strange woman entered the room of the Washington lady, and asked her to lend her four dollars, with which to pay her wash bill, saying that she had no small bills and that she would get some change. The money was loaned her, and subse-quently it was ascertained that she had left the hotel, and the Washington lady then became aware that a valuable shaw had been stolen from her. Having learned in conversation with the strange woman that she had been stopping at the Metroa: she had been stopping at the Metro-htan hotel in New York, the lady immepohtas hotel in New York, the lady immediately proceeded there to make inquiries, and, upon giving a description, Mr. Leland at once identified the woman as the one who had victimized him out of $90 on the strength of three trunks filled with rubbish. Mr. Leland stated that the same woman played the same game at Willard's hotel in Washington, and had swindled parties in Syracuse out of some $3,000. She travels in various disguises, which has enabled her to elude detectives who have abled her to elude detectives who have en after her. Having been described as enabled her to elude detectives who have been after her. Having been described as the woman that "travels with the black and tan dog," she has now dispensed with the animal and caused her hair to be cut short. A few days since the fair swindler paid a visit to the Tombs, where she introduced herself to Judge Hogan as the wife of Senator Sutherland, in consequence of which she was received with marked attention. Expressing a wish to visit the prison, the Judge escorted her through the various apartments, and to the prisoners she had kindly words and promises to supply their wants. She also caused the arrest of an innocent woman in New York on the charge of picking her pockets of $70, probably with a view of extending her credit at the hotel. Mr. Leland, determined to cause the arrest of the woman, immediately set detectives at work, and they succeeded in tracing her to a hotel in Broadway, where she entered her name as Mrs. Tuttle, but she soon after left. Two well-known United States detectives have been keeping this woman under surveillance, and it is believed that she is connected with the 7-30 and 5-20 counterfeiting gang. counterfeiting gang.

At a late hour Sunday night, a young woman giving her name as Kate Sutherland applied at the Charles street Police station for shelter from the cold. She in-

She informed the Sergeant in charge that she had been brought to this city from New Orleans by a man whose name she declined to give, and had boarded with him at the Metropolitan hotel, but her betrayer having deserted her she had been compelled to leave the hotel, where her wardrobe is detained. Yesterday she was found to be ill, so the police had her conveyed to Belleview hospital.—N. Y. Times. LEGISLATIVE CORRUPTION. - The report

Mr. Edward C. Worcester, treasurer of the New York Central railroad company, testified that he paid $205,000 during the last session of the Legislature, and he supposed it was to influence votes. It had not been charged to any specific account, but was paid over to the president, and the payment had been sanctioned by the board of directors. The improvements in the city of Milwaukie, for the year 1867, are mammoth in their proportions, and will exceed those of last year, when the number of buildings erected was 1,232, at a cost of $2,500,000, by at least 25 per cent. This year many costly buildings have been erected.

The stepmother of Abraham Lincoln still lives near Farmington, Coles county, Illinois, in a one-story log cabin containing two rooms, Aunt Sally Lincoln, as the villagers call her, is now eighty years old and very feeble. She is a plain, unsophisticated old lady, with a frank, open countenance, a warm heart, full of kindness toward others, tall and slender, and, in many respects, very much like the President—enough so to be his own mother. And, as he was but nine years of age at the time of her marriage with his father, it is not improbable that she had much to do in forming his character. She still speaks of Abraham as her "good boy" and praises his obedience. She says "Abraham and his step-brother never quarreled but once, and that, you know, is a good deal for step-brothers." About a mile and a half from her old cabin is the grave of Thomas Lincoln, father of the President. It is marked by a piece of clap-board, on which is rudely carved only the initials "T.
